Out-of-pocket expenses for a range of accessibility modifications can be included when calculating federal income tax medical expense deductions. Features permitted may only partially increase property value. Federal Capital Gains Tax. Financing home modifications has tax implications. The amount spent on accessibility can be added to the cost basis of the house --- the cumulative cost of improvements made over the years, even if market value is not increased. When the house is sold, the capital gain reflects the difference between the net selling price and the cost basis. Federal Income Tax Deduction for Housing Used for Business Purposes. When a property is used for business purposes, a portion of capital expenses such as building improvements normally must be deducted over a number of years. However, accessibility improvements for customers can either be deducted over time or taken as a lump-sum deduction in the year the expenses occurred.	Personal Income Tax Deduction Target Populations <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Homeowners • People with disabilities Capital Gains Tax Target Populations <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Homeowners • Landlords • People with disabilities Business Tax Deduction Target Populations <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Homeowners • Landlords How to Access Visit the link at left for tax law information
